Cost:  $1,250.00/person/double occupancy

Adirondack Hamlets to Huts is happy to offer its first ever Adirondack Great Camp Yoga and Meditation Hut-to-Hut Paddle Retreat! This one-of-a-kind experience combines excellent yoga and meditation instruction with paddling on the beautiful waterways of the Adirondacks and overnight stays at three Adirondack Great Camps and one repurposed historic hotel. Included in this incredible offering are:

- Twice-daily yoga/meditation sessions
- Four nights of lodging, double occupancy
- All meals
- Tours of Camp Huntington and Great Camp Sagamore
- All luggage shuttle services
- Travel facilitated by a certified New York State Guide
We recommend that trekkers paddle lightweight (e.g., Kevlar) tandem (C-2) or single person (C-1) canoes because they are easier to carry while portaging. Trekkers with heavier canoes and recreational kayaks may wish to consider the use of wheels for the Marion River carry. Boat rental is not included in the cost of the trip listed above.

DAY 1, Thursday, June 16th: Meet up with Mary, Kari, and your fellow trekkers at the Raquette Lake Marina boat ramp at 3:00 PM. Following a brief paddling overview session, you'll navigate the 1.5 miles over to Camp Huntington, formerly known as Camp Pine Knot, and settle in at the very first and archetypal Adirondack Great Camp designed by William West Durant. This National Historic Landmark now serves as a boat-access only environmental and outdoor education facility owned and managed by SUNY Cortland. An orientation and meditation session after dinner caps your first day and sets your amazing retreat fully into motion!

DAY 2, Friday, June 17th: Following a morning yoga session and breakfast, you'll be treated to a step back in time as you enjoy a guided tour of Camp Huntington and immerse yourself into the bygone glory days of the Gilded Age. After the tour and lunch, you'll paddle 3.5 miles and hike 1.7 miles to Great Camp Sagamore, another of W.W. Durant’s Adirondack Great Camps that once served as a wilderness enclave for the Vanderbilts. An afternoon yoga/meditation session and dinner leave the evening open for enjoying the sublime landscape into which you have immersed yourself.

DAY 3, Saturday, June 18th: A tour of fabulous Great Camp Sagamore, another National Historic Landmark, follows your morning yoga session and breakfast. Thereafter, you will hike the 1.7 miles back to Cascade Falls and paddle down the South Inlet and westward across Raquette Lake to Antlers, a former hotel and casino that is now part of SUNY Cortland's William H. Parks Family Center for Environmental and Outdoor Education, where you will enjoy an afternoon yoga/meditation session before dinner.

DAY 4, Sunday, Jun 19th: Following your morning yoga session, you will depart Antlers for the biggest travel day of the trip. You will paddle 5.7 miles across Raquette Lake and up the slow-moving, winding Marion River to the first and only canoe carry of the trip—a 0.7-mile portage along what was once the shortest standard-gauge rail line in the world. From the eastern end of the carry, you'll paddle across Utowana and Eagle lakes into Blue Mountain Lake, where you will spend the evening at the splendid Hedges, itself listed on the National Register of Historic Places. A pre-dinner yoga nidra meditation caps your active day.
DAY 5: A morning yoga session and breakfast is the perfect way to start your final day as you relish the rustic refinements of The Hedges. Thereafter, you'll paddle 1.3 miles to the water landing for a trail to Castle Rock mountain, where a 1.6 mile up and down hike rewards you with fabulous views of Blue Mountain Lake and the expansive Adirondack wilderness to the south. Upon returning to the water from the modest summit, you will paddle 1.9 miles to the public beach at the east end of Blue Mountain Lake, where your retreat ends following a debrief of your experience.

Although this retreat provides comfortable lodging at the end of each day, this experience involves backcountry travel from one place of lodging to the next. You will be exposed to elements of the weather and terrain and must be clothed appropriately. Mid-June weather in the Adirondacks straddles the spring and summer seasons, meaning that the weather could range from rainy and cool to sunny and warm. Although the distances travelled each day are modest, trekkers must be sufficiently fit in order to ably paddle and hike the necessary distances from one place of lodging to the next. The itinerary laid out here is subject to change as per Mary and Kari's judgment in response to the whims of the weather and unforeseen circumstances.

Please call Joe at 315.657.1320 with any questions you may have.

Adirondack Hamlets to Huts will provide you with a clothing and gear list upon booking and we will facilitate your rental of a boat if needed. Given that this is a guided trip, we require that you sign an Acknowledgement of Risk/Waiver of Liability form and fill out an AHH medical history form.

Mary Bartel has shared yoga and energy cultivation practices as her full-time profession since 2000. As a yoga therapist, she has an eclectic style of teaching that is functional and practical, yet spiritual and inspiring. She incorporates traditional Yoga with Qigong and Taoist principles that emphasize energy healing through awareness of the laws of nature, symbolism of various postures and gestures, and the effect various practices have for promoting greater vitality and longevity.
